

HEAL'S FLAGSHIP IN MIDLANDS

Heritage furniture and interiors brand Heal's has opened its first store in Birmingham with a showroom designed by award-winning agency, Office Twelve. Located in the Mailbox, Birmingham's premier shopping and lifestyle destination, the new store is Heal's regional flagship for the Midlands. The showroom space is simple yet sophisticated, featuring unpretentious materials in eye-catching contemporary forms to complement Heal's superbly edited collections. Every moment of the showroom customer journey is designed to delight visitors with carefully curated displays and touchpoints. Highlights from Heal's new AW17 collection feature alongside best-sellers from brands such as Vitra, Case and Tom Dixon. Classics like the iconic Eames chair are elevated to hero status, and customers can discover the entire Heal's offer at the online browse bar. In keeping with Heal's ethos of good design, well made, the simplicity of the store design is shrewdly deceptive. High quality finishing is apparent everywhere, with honest materials expertly crafted by hand. Bespoke furniture and displays echo the premium Heal's brand throughout the experience, showcasing contemporary furniture, home fragrance area, lighting, chair bar, soft furnishings and upholstery.

11,000 sq ft new build family home in Hertfordshire, a 7,000 sq ft private residence in Oxshott, a lateral apartment in Earls Court, a family home in the heart of Wimbledon Village and a penthouse development in Richmond. "We believe that we have created a flawless, luxury interior when we have reached the right balance between all the elements, creating a truly bespoke, comfortable environment where our clients can relax and feel totally at home." Lucy Clark.

Pawson said: "I am delighted to have been asked to design the trophy for The Fashion Awards 2017. The trophy is a symbolic memento of the night so I wanted to create something special that would be both a beautiful object in its own right and a fitting tribute to the achievements of this year's winners. The inherent qualities of Swarovski crystal enhance the simplicity of the cylindrical form and coloured thread, producing a celebratory play of light and colour."
